THE GREEN TRIANGLE

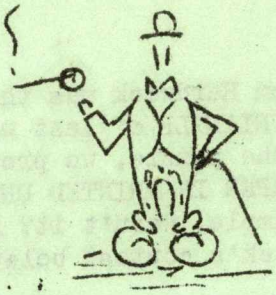
Vol. 45 No. 5

Kamp Kanawana Saturday, July 23, 1938

CIRCUS DAY ATTRACTS VISITORS

Many members of the Kamp Kanawana Committee were present at the annual camp circus, where another form of camp versatility was exhibited. Many prospective P. T. Barnums were gathered on Junior campus last Thursday, nearly every tent having erected a booth in the midway. The booths ranged from games of skill to refreshment stands. An exhibit a little out of the ordinary was the seniors' "Hall of Science" where campers were sent on the path to a B. Sc. for the nominal sum of one cent. Some of the games of skill were Ring Toss, Ball Throwing, Penny Toss, Nail Hammering, and others. One of the more notable of these was a concession where one might wreak one's vengeance on any of the camp staff (in cardboard) by socking them with tennis balls....The Doc hit the chief three times in succession and won an orange. Refreshments were sold in many forms, including ice cream sundaes, plain ice cream, soft drinks, hot-dogs, potato chips, hamburgers, marshmallows, popcorn, and candy. As a result, very few went in for general swim that afternoon.

Thursday evening the program commenced with a circus parade, led by Frank Sharpe masquerading as Haile Selassie, and Norm Wallace making a perfect clown. The evening continued with ten acts of vaudeville under the big top (the lower pavillion). The hit of the show was the wrestling match between Norm Wallace and the masked marvel, whose identity is uncertain. Derrick Crossey was the master of ceremonies with his "Lew Lehr" accent, and Walter Harris again demonstrated his super-human strength under hypnotism induced by Papazian. Influenza, the horse who seems almost human (we wonder why), was in attendance with her offspring, Influenza Jr., and the guitar duet of Phil Simpson and Dave Savage was called back for an encore Clark Merritt did some of his acrobatic clowning, which was enthusiastically received.



Circus Day, besides being a lot of fun, tends to develop initiative and a sense of responsibility, and for these reasons it is an institution which we hope will be continued in years to come.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editors: Morrey Cross and Rigo Pelletier
Art Editor: Bob LeMoyne
Circulation Manager: Ed Power
Business Manager: Doug Dilks

#######

ADVICE TO NEW CAMPERS

1. Lie out in the sun for hours at a time and let the doctor see you. Also let him watch you practise knife-throwing....He'll appreciate it.

2. When you see John Pearson coming in the dining hall, begin throwing the butter around.....He'll love you for it.

3. Come into the dining hall any time you wish. The chief doesn't mind.

4. Don't pay any attention when Norm Wallace yells "All off the wharf (please)", because he's only kidding.

5. If you desire to become friendly with Aubrey Bayley, enquire at any time of day as to the state of your bank account.....He just loves visitors after bank hours.

6. The "Mount Royal" is the meeting-place for all Juveniles....It is such a large place that Brock Brace is lonely without all you Juveniles milling about.

7. Take all the tools you want out of the Q.M.S.,and leave them around your sections....Basil Burgess enjoys very much to spend a few hours a day hunting for them....After all, he has to do something while here in Kamp.

#######

TOM HARDWICK WINS CONTEST

Tom Hardwick was the winner of the stupendous contest which appeared in the GREEN TRIANGLE of last week. For those poor unfortunates who were unable to complete the puzzle, we present the correct solution:
THIS PAPER IS PRINTED UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE PUBLISHERS' GUILD.

Simple, wasn't it? And yet we received very few solutions. Get to work on this week's contest below.

#######

CONTEST

Unscramble the letters in the following words, and re-arrange these to form a logical sentence:

HATT LIWL STIE OHEP PARSCEM [illegible] CBUSHERIS
Hand in your solution to Rigo Pelletier, [illegible] 11, Junior section.

Count not the Cost
or, The Story of Three Fish

Once upon last Monday morn,
The Chief, with greatest joys,
Picked up rods and reels and things
And also two smart boys.

He said, "Now, pals, let's take a trip
Through steep Laurentian hills;
The cost will be no cost at all,
So there will be no bills".

"There's Montfort many miles away -
Nuwego's lake is near:
And if we don't catch plenty fish,
'T will be something mighty queer."

"And we can camp at friends I know
Who'll feed us like three kings:
They'll even put us up at night
In beds where no bell rings."

"T was Robbie Burns who truthfully said
That plans of mice and men
Oft go astray though planned with care
And checked and planned again.

The Chief's first part fast went astray
He lost the road; and soon
The car snapped something in the rear
And shrieked like Becsies' loon.

"Please, Madam, let me use your phone:
I'm chief at great big camp."
"Go 'way, you dirty, greasy man,
I know you're just a tramp."

But still the Chief eventually got
To Montfort's lake at night,
To find that all the friends he knew
Had vanished out of sight.

O sight forlorn, those fishers three -
No friends, no car, no boat:
No fish, no sleep, no food, and now -
The Chief was made the goat.

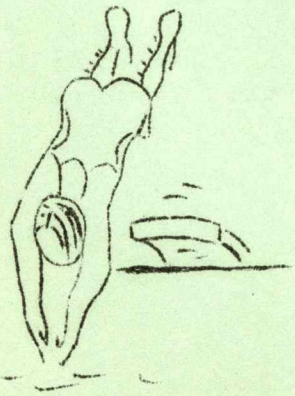
A bill, next day, came with the car:
The Chief roared; "Man alive!"
For after he'd read dollar sign -
He saw a 'thirty-five'.

--Fels.

#######

KANAWANA SWIMMING CHAMPIONS CROWNED

Splash! They're off! The senior 50 yds. free style is on its way. When the spray has cleared, the churning whirlpool emerging already from the contestants is Ned Mahon--he tears through the water to win the event; and all the other senior events too, in the all-camp swimming meet on Tuesday, July 19. Ned has shown himself to be an exceptional swimmer, and one who deserves all applause from his fellows. On Tuesday, he cleaned the lake-bed, so to speak, and beat out the other divers as well.



In the Junior section, the competition was much keener; Bob Mahon, Peter Cameron and Junior Taylor being literally at one another's necks for first place. Eventually, however, Bob Mahon, the brother of the Senior champion, emerges victorious having won the breast stroke, obtained second in the diving, and third in the 50 yard free style for juniors. Junior Taylor and Peter and Ian Cameron put up a grand fight in all events, but were beaten on all-round points.

In the Juvenile meet, Harry Hamilton was winner over Doug. McGillis by a small margin. The red and green hat events were keenly contested and provided fun for everybody.

The leaders' section of the meet was a great success, with Bob Payne defeating the field with two wins, in diving and free sytle. Before the meet, Ned Mahon attempted to break his last year's across the lake record of 1 min. 39 sec. and failed to do so by a few seconds.

The meet was run off very smoothly by the officials under Norman Wallace and Brock Brace and we hope for another one in the near future.